Many options in the fields of advanced training, jobs and careers, economy, research, science, training, culture, German language and alumni networks make the Alumniportal Deutschland a qualified social network.

Who was the Alumniportal Deutschland made for?

For Germany-alumni

Researchers, scientists, experts, students, trainees – Thousands of people come to Germany every year in order to study or participate in advanced training. Back in their home countries, the Alumniportal Deutschland provides these people with the opportunity to secure and broaden their contacts and competencies.

Germany-alumni can

- establish new contacts and maintain existing ones
- participate in specialist discussions, contribute knowledge and ideas and benefit from other alumni's experience
- research events and training initiatives worldwide
- find jobs and assignments and present their own application profiles
- exercise their German language skills
- keep up-to-date on current topics

For companies and organisations

Germany-alumni are often highly qualified and they are familiar with German culture and the German language. This means that they are important contacts for local companies and organisations.

Companies and organisations can

- find qualified employees, experts and contact persons
- publish job vacancies and assignments or view applicants' profiles
- promote events
- present themselves and publicise their services and projects

For universities, foundations and institutes of higher education

Institutes of higher education have recently given an increasingly high priority to alumni activities. Foreign alumni, however, are difficult to reach and these important contacts can easily be lost after they return to their home countries.

Institutes of higher education and foundations can

- recover their alumni
- maintain contact with their foreign alumni
- present themselves and their alumni networks
- promote their courses of study and scholarship programmes
